

Running alongside the PEAK Tactical Blend is the PEAK Options Blend, a set of strategies that extract premium in the options market. These trades are non-directional, meaning they produce in all market types, though they prefer neutral or bearish-toned markets. The trades are very conservative in nature and are deployed as a second layer to add additional alpha and non-correlation to our Tactical portfolio. The results shown below represent when the PEAK Options Blend is running concurrently with the PEAK Tactical Blend, producing these combined returns.
